

In Portugal Carnival stands as an opportunity to show your joy, to expose critics often hidden throughout the year, to play tricks, to freely sing and dance and to prepare your stomach for Lent fasting, generously eating the tasty pork specialities accompanied by good Portuguese wines.

AT CARNIVAL PORTO OFFERS YOU:

A truly Portuguese celebration, featuring street events, Carnival dances for all tastes, activities for children, concerts, exhibitions, among other things.

STREET EVENTS

Children play a leading role on this day, proudly exhibiting their costumes. Families go out on the street with their confetti, streamers and lots of joy.

This year Porto Lazer and Panmixia will keep giving ancient Carnival back to the city. You're all invited to celebrate:

CARNAVAL IN PORTO

5 February 2008

This year, in Porto, the Aliados Avenue will be turned once more into a great ballroom, with two stages for two orchestras, chandeliers hanging from the sky, old times entertainment, drums, folk bands, masks, flower battles, carousels, photographers, and, above all a musical theatre performance presenting "Maria do Bolhão"... Will the Embuçado (man with the mask) be able to turn the Square into a private condominium? Will the citizens of Porto be able to prevent the depopulation of the City Centre? If you want to know the answer watch, live, the last episode.

And don't forget to come dance and play with us this "Carnival in Porto".

DANCE

8 and 9 February

THE REHEARSAL OF A POSSIBLE EROS: CYCLE ROMULUS AND THE OTHER

Conception, direction: Romulus Neagu.

Collaboration: Portuguese Association for Brain Paralysis – Viseu.

“A lot of people don’t know how to touch a handicapped person. So we decided to start by touching ourselves.”

This is how Romulus Neagu presents this duet with José António Correia, a young man with brain paralysis.

With a deep interest in a “fragile, exposed, human body”, Neagu turns dance into a transgressive therapeutic strategy, but also into an effective – and affective – identities meeting.

Venue: Carlos Alberto Theatre, Rua das Oliveiras, 43

Time: 21h30

For all audiences. Duration: 40 minutes.

Cost: from 10 to 15 euros. Youth and student cards, older than 65, Thursday, theatre professionals, family price (for families with 3 or more persons): 50% discount.
